1. Why does Marianne agree to go to the Ranch despite her reservations?
2. Why does Marianne feel so guilty about her role at the Ranch?
3. In contrast with Marianne, why do you think Eric seems to have so few misgivings about the Ranch?
4. Where do you imagine Marianne in 5 years? Janine? Davonte? Eric?
5. What do you think the story of Terri Schiavo represents to Janine?
6. On Page 303, Marianne writes to Janine:

You are a poet... and that is something you just can't help, like a disease or a birth defect...

Do you agree with this view of human personality and ability?

7. Have you ever been in a situation, like Marianne in Brooklyn at the beginning of the book, where you felt there was nothing left for you? If so, how did you respond to that feeling?
8. On page 26, Marianne lists some of her beliefs:

Ruth was wrong to say that Marianne didn't believe in anything. She believed in things you could see or prove. She believed in science, believed in abortions, believed in the miracle of stem cells. She believed in population control and drug legalization, gun control and public transportation. She believed in generous arts grants and taxes for the rich. She thought everyone should be an organ donor and should have no say in the matter. She thought cats and dogs should be spayed
